Shuttleworth Pageant Air Display

Sunday 6th September 2009

The Master, Simon Hills, hopes that you and your guests will be able to join him at Shuttleworth on one of their Flying Days.

The Shuttleworth Collection is a world-famous collection of aircraft, all in flying condition, from the world's oldest airworthy aeroplane, the Blériot X1 Monoplane (1909) through to the Spitfire. As well as the Collection itself, and the flying display on the day, admission covers the Swiss Garden, a Regency design by Lord Ongley, and the Bird of Prey Centre and Owl Sanctuary, with over 300 birds.

You can arrive any time from 9am onwards; the Air Display itself will start at 2pm, but it is recommended we arrive early to take advantage of the other facilities. Note that the only practical way of getting to Shuttleworth is by car, and it is critical that we inform them in advance how many cars our party will be bringing, to ensure that there is parking space and sufficient space in a prime viewing site for the Flying Display itself.

Tickets will be £21 per person, and children under 16 have free admission. Lunch will not be provided, but there is ample space for picnicing on site.

Please return the application form, with your cheque and either a stamped, self-addressed envelope or details of your email address, as soon as possible, but to arrive no later than Monday 3rd August; it will not be possible to make refunds after this date.
